the Chairperson. The Committee will consist of at least 10 members who have terminal degrees and who have competence in the area of research. As far as possible, the members should be diverse as to gender, subject education, and cultural backgrounds. One member should represent the community and have no CIU affiliation other than possibly being an alumnus. IRB members may not participate in reviewing an approval request in which they have a conflict of interest although such members may provide any information requested by the IRB. (45 CFR 46.107) Each IRB member will have obtained a certificate of training for ethics in research.
